We @ Logika (currently in stealth mode) are seeking a hands-on iOS guru to join our team. Logika, an innovative technology start-up located next to Kanyon in Levent, is founded by a team of seasoned entrepreneurs. Our passion is re-inventing the transportation ecosystem with the ultimate goal of making things more efficient, sustainable and more fun. We are seeking a rock star developer who will be part of executing Logika's mission through bringing our product vision to life.

The ideal candidate has a strong background in Mobile App development, with a track record of having built popular apps coupled with technical accomplishments. The candidate possess an entrepreneurial drive, a demonstrated ability to achieve stretch goals in an innovative and fast paced environment and shares our excitement to build a world-class company.

Responsibilities

- Code interfaces, interactions, and prototypes for Logika users
- Collaborate with user experience designers and other developers to ensure a high-quality user experience and code
- Regularly document the progress and deliver an exceptionally clean code

Requirements

- Years of experience matter less than demonstrable ability and passion – also a great attitude and personality are must-haves
- Mastery of iPhone (Objective C, Cocoa, Java, iPhone SDK) with at least one app in the Appstore
- Scrum / agile / lean methodologies for software development
- Social network integration with Facebook/Twitter/Google+

We Offer

Compensation commensurate with experience and will be including a base salary; a performance based incentive plan and a stock option plan.
